You will learn

- The essential tools: bags, couplers, a few tips, a flower nail

- How to choose between disposable and reusable bags
- How to set up a tidy, cool workspace
- How the course is organized from first swirl to finished bouquet

Written step-by-step

2. Wash and fully dry every tool before you start.
3. Clear a flat counter and keep a bowl of ice-cold water or a cold pack nearby for your hands.
4. Label small containers for gel food coloring, spatulas, and tips.
5. Fit the coupler and tip, then do a test pipe on parchment before decorating anything.

Lesson 2: Buttercream for Piping Flowers

> Learn to make a stiff, smooth American buttercream that holds sharp petals. You will also learn how to fix it when it is too soft or too stiff.

You will learn

- Why petals need a stiffer buttercream than a swirl
- The basic ratio of butter, powdered sugar, and a splash of milk
- How to fix buttercream that is too soft or too stiff
- Safe handling: keep decorations under 2 hours at room temperature and follow food-safety guidelines

Written step-by-step

1. Beat 1 cup of unsalted butter at a cool room temperature until pale and creamy, about 3 to 4 minutes.
2. Add 4 cups of sifted powdered sugar, 1 cup at a time, on low speed.
3. Add 1 tsp vanilla and 1 to 2 tbsp milk, then beat on medium for 3 minutes.
4. Test a petal: it should hold its shape without cracking at the edges.
5. If too soft, add powdered sugar by the 2 tbsp; if too stiff, add milk by the 1 tsp.
6. Beat on low for a minute to press out air bubbles. Dairy-free needs? Use a plant-based butter alternative and expect a softer set.

Practice

Make one small batch (1 cup butter, 4 cups powdered sugar) and test it by piping a petal. Adjust with 1 tsp of milk or 2 tbsp powdered sugar at a time.

- How angle changes the look of a petal or star
- How to practice efficiently on parchment

Written step-by-step

1. Fold the top of the bag over your hand and spoon in buttercream until it is about half full.
2. Unfold, push the buttercream down, and twist the bag closed just above it.
3. Hold the twist between your thumb and index finger; this hand pushes, the other hand guides.
4. Squeeze with steady pressure, stop squeezing, then lift the tip.
5. Hold the bag at 90 degrees for dots and stars, and 45 degrees for petals.
6. Practice on parchment and reuse the buttercream.

Practice
